A Gift You Will Never Regret

Why You Should Consider a Charitable Bequest to the East Alabama Medical Center Foundation in Your Will

Rare is the person who regrets having been truly generous or thoughtful. More likely, we are sorry for not having done more to help others when we could. But fears about the future impair our ability to be as philanthropic as we might like. How can you give away property, securities or real estate now if you do not know whether you or your family will need those assets later? One solution is to make a gift to a charitable organization like ours by means of a bequest—a gift through your will or living trust.

Following are some of the advantages. Bequests are:

- Easy. Making a bequest is as simple as inserting a few sentences into your will, such as, “I give $10,000 to the East Alabama Medical Center Foundation.”
- Revocable. With a bequest, you are not actually making a gift until your death. Until then, you are free to alter your plans, eliminating the worry that you must make an irrevocable commitment that you might later regret.

- Versatile. Bequests can be structured in many ways. For example, you can make a gift of a specific item or amount of money. You can make a gift contingent upon certain events, such as “I give $25,000 to my grandson, if he is living; otherwise it will go to the East Alabama Medical Center Foundation.” You can also bequeath a percentage or the remainder of your estate after all other debts, taxes and bequests have been fulfilled.
- Tax-wise. Aside from the pure joy achieved by leaving meaningful gifts to others, making a bequest to a charitable organization has valuable tax benefits. Your estate is entitled to an unlimited estate tax charitable deduction for bequests to qualified charitable organizations.

Legal and other advisors can assist you in updating your will.

We are also available to answer any questions. Please call the East Alabama Medical Center Foundation at (334) 528-5868.

Your IRAs Are Worth More As a Charitable Gift

Leave your IRAs to your children, siblings or anyone other than your spouse and you may be leaving them almost nothing!

Individual retirement accounts are excellent vehicles for accumulating assets for your use during retirement, but they are terrible for transferring wealth to others. Whoever inherits your IRAs may find them seriously depleted by taxes—unless the recipient is a charitable entity like the East Alabama Medical Center Foundation.

Tax Rules

Like other investments and savings, IRA assets may be subject to federal estate tax. What most people don't realize is that IRA distributions carry an income tax liability, too, which carries over to your designated beneficiaries. This double tax bite often leaves little for your heirs.

Only a surviving spouse can defer the built-in income tax liability on an inherited IRA by rolling it over to a spousal IRA within 60 days.

Preserve Your Assets

IRA transfers to East Alabama Medical Center after your lifetime avoid estate and income taxes. Estate planners often advise clients to consider a charitable bequest of IRA funds because an IRA is worth more to a tax-exempt organization than it is to heirs, net of tax.

You can bequeath your surplus IRA funds to us, preserving 100 percent of them to support our work rather than relinquishing a huge portion to taxes.

Your IRA plan administrator or tax advisor can assist you in arranging to name us as the primary or secondary beneficiary of your IRAs.

Make a Lifetime Gift

If you are 70½ or older, new legislation gives you the opportunity to witness the benefits of your generosity while helping to support our mission. Under the Pension Protection Act of 2006, you can transfer funds from your IRA as a gift (if the gift is not more than $100,000) directly to us on or before Dec. 31, 2007. You will not have to include the amount transferred to us as taxable income, nor will you take a charitable deduction. This provision can be especially appealing if you are already receiving required minimum distributions and do not want to pay income tax on those funds, or if you have already named us as beneficiary of your IRA and would like to jump-start your legacy with an outright gift. Contact us at (334) 528-5868 for more information about this opportunity.

10 Charitable Resolutions

For the Philanthropically Inclined

- 1. I will give without being asked.
- 2. I will draw upon the key people, experiences and influences in my life when deciding where to give.
- 3. I will study the best methods for making donations. For example, I might make charitable gifts outright rather than deferred, from assets rather than from income.
- 4. I will seek no influence from my giving. I may want to restrict some gifts for specific purposes, but I will place no other conditions on my giving.
- 5. I will make charitable giving an integral part of my estate plan. I will consult my estate planner for help.
- 6. I will make “challenge gifts” so as to involve others in worthwhile funding campaigns.
- 7. I will evaluate the business of a cause before I support it. I will look beyond emotional appeal to the financial efficiency of a charity.
- 8. I will emphatically oppose unprofessional appeals.
- 9. I will encourage others to give to good causes. I will teach my children and urge my friends to select causes and support them in return for their blessings and for the good of the communities in which we live.
